

JEWELRY CO.,
BROADWAY,
COR. LOCUST.

JEWELRY CO.,
BROADWAY,
COR. LOCUST.

URR 18-KT. GOLD WEDDING RINGS.
MERMOD & JACQUARD JEWELRY CO.,
COR. BROADWAY AND LOUVE ST.

DT CORNER.

BULL BAITING.
It was Practiced at York Until the Close
of the Last Century.
From the Newcastle Chronicle.
The custom of baiting bulls in open spaces has been indulged in from time immemorial, and probably had its birth in the arenas of Greece and Rome. It was an exciting, but dangerous and disgusting, amusement; yet until the birth of the present century it was publicly observed in almost every village and town of the country; and relics of its existence are still to be found in various places. In York two places were used for this ignoble practice.
One was in Thursday Market place, or St.
Peter's street, as it was called, at the foot of Pavement. As the two places were workers, and each had a cross or corn of wheat on the top of his head. The men were so close together that the people who were in a position to pay for a song could not see the faces of the singers. The pavement has lost all evidence of the game, and the only way to secure the stone on which the bull was fastened is to go to the very heavy stone let into the ground, and feel for the leaden ring which is fastened with cement. Formerly a strong rope was attached to the stone by two hooks, and the men in the lead of the procession became loose some twenty years ago. The men were dressed in the old oil, with a lead opposite to the stone, and it was presumed that the men were philosophers, and the people were philosophers. The hooks which held the ring, and the lead which held the stone, were the custom was to fasten the ring to the stone; then to stake out a ring, within the ring, and to stake out a ring, within the ring, except those necessary to the performance.

On a given signal, dogs were slipped and the chase was on. The dogs were chained back, which in turn sought to gore and toss them, and very frequently in the confusion it killed them. If the dogs were killed, or maimed or wearied, fresh dogs were let loose on the maddened bull, and the fight went on until the dogs or the dogs were exhausted, or the people were tired. The fight was then over. The audience was then led away, to the dogs of the show who had witnessed the show, or more often to the next show. At the time of the fight at York, the market cross formed a point of vantage eagerly taken up to witness the fight. The crowd, however, was not so large, in the course of time, the wealthy citizens of the city, in the hope of patronage and presence from the show, had erected a new and more ornate scene, and the market cross was now so much lower grade that the custom died. The market cross, least, has passed since the last bull fight in the hands of the cart.

good Things in Their Way, But They Are Sometimes Wasted.

from the Detroit Free Press.

The tramp walked into the back yard spry as a woodchuck and knocked at the kitchen door resolutely.

"Good morning," he said slyly to the woman when she poked her head out, "good morning."

"What do you want?" asked the cook mortly.

"Does Mr. Jones live here?" he inquired, bowing full well that that did, for he had seen the door-plate around round.

"Yes, he does."

"How long has he lived here?"

"Five years."

"Bless my soul, so long as that, and I've never seen him before. Can I see him?"

"No, he's gone down town."

"Bless my soul, so early?"
"Yes."
"Did he get his breakfast before he went?"
"Of course."
"Bless my soul, how fortunate. I've been own town and back and haven't had mias
to. Do you think I could get such a thing now?"
"You bet you can't!" exclaimed the cook, slamming the door with a bang.
"Bless my soul, that's impossible for a moment and started away despondently.
"I'll be back in half an hour," he thought, as he walked down the street, "and then they don't go in this business, and I've been the rat or worse," and he went shambling along, meek and humble, to the next yard.

THE FEARS.

able experience has she had! What is the re and there's a hob-wire fence on bot

---

SHENDED.

A black and white illustration of a young boy looking up, framed by a decorative border. The boy is shown from the chest up, with dark hair and a light-colored shirt. He is looking upwards and to the right. The illustration is enclosed in a rectangular frame with a decorative, possibly floral or scrollwork, border. The style is simple and graphic, typical of early 20th-century book illustrations.

of the country to the city. When you go put on a stylish riding habit. One can and weather." L. A. 10-11-34
10-11-34
10-11-34

BULL FAITING.

BULL BAITING.
It Was Practiced at York Until the Close
of the Last Century.
From the Newcastle Chronicle.
The custom of baiting bulls in open spaces has been indulged in from time immemorial, and probably had its birth in the arenas of Greece and Rome. It is an exciting, but dangerous and disgusting, amusement, yet until the birth of the present century it was publicly observed in almost every village and town of the country; and relics of its existence are still to be found in various places. In York two arenas were used for this ignoble practice, one was in Thursday Market place, or St. Andrew's, and the other in the open space, west of Pavement. As the two places were workers, and each had a cross or corn of wheat on the top of his head. The men were so close together that the people who were in a position to pay for a song could not see the faces of the singers. The pavement has lost all evidence of the game, and the only way to secure the stone on which the bull was fastened is to go to the very heavy stone let into the ground, and feel for the leaden ring which is fastened with cement. Formerly a strong rope was attached to the stone by two hooks, and the men in the lead of the procession became loose some twenty years ago. The men were dressed in the old oil, with a lead opposite to the stone, and it was presumed that the men were philosophers, and the people were philosophers. The hooks which held the ring, and the lead which held the stone, were the custom was to fasten the ring to the stone; then to stake out a ring, within the ring, and to stake out a ring, within the ring, except those necessary to the performance.

On a given signal, dogs were slipped and the chase was on. The dogs were chained back, which in turn sought to gore and toss them, and very frequently in the confusion it killed them. If the dogs were killed, or maimed or wearied, fresh dogs were let loose on the maddened bull, and the fight went on until the dogs or the dogs were exhausted, or the people were tired. The fight was then over. The audience was then led away, to the dogs of the show who had witnessed the show, or more often to the next show. At the time of the fight at York, the market cross formed a point of vantage eagerly taken up to witness the fight. The crowd, however, was not so large, in the course of time, the wealthy citizens of the city, in the hope of patronage and presence from the show, had erected a new and more ornate scene, and the market cross was now so much lower grade that the custom died. The market cross, least, has passed since the last bull fight in the hands of the cart.

good Things in Their Way, But They Are Sometimes Wasted.

from the Detroit Free Press.

The tramp walked into the back yard spry as a woodchuck and knocked at the kitchen door resolutely.

"Good morning," he said slyly to the woman when she poked her head out, "good morning."

"What do you want?" asked the cook mortly.

"Does Mr. Jones live here?" he inquired, bowing full well that that did, for he had seen the door-plate around round.

"Yes, he does."

"How long has he lived here?"

"Five years."

"Bless my soul, so long as that, and I've never seen him before. Can I see him?"

"No, he's gone down town."

"Bless my soul, so early?"

"Yes."

"Did he get his breakfast before he went?"

"Of course."

"Bless my soul, how fortunate. I've been down town and back and haven't had miles to do. You don't think I could get such a thing as a breakfast?"

"You bet you can't!" exclaimed the cook, slamming the door with a bang.

"I looked at it the impossibility for a moment and started away despondently."

"But what are you mauling?" asked another woman who didn't come in until she saw the first woman start out. "If they don't go in this business, and I've seen them all the rat or worse," and he went shambling along, meek and humble, to the next yard.

HIS FEARS.

A black and white illustration of a man in a top hat and a young girl in a polka-dot dress walking through a wooded area. The man is holding a cane and reaching out to the girl's shoulder. The girl is carrying a basket.

Doctor: "The child is frightened! What terrible experience has she had! What is the matter, my dear?"

Nellie: "There's a gander down the way there and there's a bob-wire fence on both sides of the road. What'll I do?"

A black and white illustration of three people at a dinner table. A man in a tuxedo stands behind a seated man and a woman. The seated man is looking at the woman, who is looking at the standing man. There are plates of food and glasses on the table.

Prof. League Française: "Ah! Not in these cold weathers!"

LEO'S DREAM.

It is the Ultimate Establishment of an Italian Republic.

The Only Explanation of the Vatican's Recent Extraordinary Language

REGARDING RELATIONS OF FRANCE AND RUSSIA TO THE PAPACY.

Some Inside Facts in Connection With Kalmouk's Recent Visit to Italy—Australia and Germany Have No Objection to a Refutation in the Italian Army—The Question of Finance—Cabinet Prospects—Foreign.

ROME, Nov. 27.—In the highest and most reserved circles in the city of Rome it is well known that the present dream of the Vatican is the establishment of a Federal Italian Republic. This idea is the only real explanation of the extraordinary language lately adopted by the Vatican organization in speaking of the mission of France and Russia with relation to the papacy.

There seems to be no prospect of an immediate settlement of the cabinet troubles. It has been learned from trustworthy sources that Kalmouk, during his recent visit to Rome, informed King Humbert that there was no objection on the part of Austria and Germany to a reduction of the Italian army, as they preferred an ally with two army corps less to an ally in serious financial difficulties.

The attitude of the Vatican towards the Triple Alliance was also the subject of conversation. The Emperor, as a Catholic, is personally reluctant to take any steps which would necessarily wound the Pope's susceptibilities. He feels the difficulties caused by the growing coldness of the Vatican and its evident leaning towards France and Russia. The Emperor does not think of visiting the Pope at present.

A THREATENING DEMONSTRATION. A mob principally composed of workmen made a threatening demonstration in front of the Chamber of Deputies on the Piazza del Popolo last evening. They were only driven from the square after a stubborn fight. Later the mob made another attempt to reassemble in front of the Chamber of Deputies and were again charged and put to flight. Many loud threats of vengeance upon those concerned in the Banca Romana and other bank scandals were made, and further demonstrations are expected.

APPAIRS AT RIO DE JANEIRO. NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The British steamship Indian Prince, in command of Capt. Barclay, has arrived from the Brazilian ports. Capt. Barclay states that Admiral Stanton, who was removed from the charge of the Atlantic squadron, did not salute Admiral Mello. The British skipper says the Admiral really related the Brazilian flag flying from one of Pelkoto's boats under the guns of the forts.

The Indian Prince had a cargo of cattle from the Rio Grande which one of Admiral Mello's staff came along side in a launch offered to buy with a check. Capt. Barclay refused to sell and succeeded in discharging the cattle in lighters, which the launch made fruitless efforts to capture. The launch cut away a lighter from the Prince and towed it out to sea, casting to the out of the machine guns from the forts and shore batteries.

A native Brazilian named Charles, who is a citizen of the United States, was captured by Mello and imprisoned in his service as a pilot. Charles then fled to the United States, belonging to the coal firm of Wilson & Sons, which was confiscated by Mello. A foreign merchantman, destined for the range of the combatants, asked for the use of one of Mello's tug boats to tow him to a safe anchorage. He was assigned to do the job, and after completing it he steamed in the direction of the range of the combatants. A fort opened fire on the tug, which carried Mello's white flag at the bow, and sent a shot through her funnel, which she began to sink and Charles swam ashore. He went back to his old employers, Wilson & Sons, and reported for duty.

This time the tug he commanded carried an American flag and the British flag over the taffrail. The flags of two nations did not protect the tug, and she was launched upon her fate. She was captured and the American flag was hoisted. As she stepped aboard the tugboat she was met by a British officer. An officer drew his sword and struck Charles twice, cutting open his right forearm and slashing his scalp. He fell on the deck. The British and American consuls heard of the incident and the next day a launch from a British war vessel and another from the Charleston came alongside the tugboat. The British officer said that the launch belonged to a British subject. Mello would have to give it up, and the American officer said that the tugboat was an American citizen ship and would have to give it up. Mello cheerfully complied with the demands of both consuls and the tug went on.

DIVIDED INTO TWO CAMPS. WEXFORD, Nov. 27.—John Redmond, the leader of the nationalists, in addressing a meeting at this place yesterday, said that the Irish people had been asked to destroy the memory of Charles Stewart Parnell for the cause of the union. The opponents of the Parnellite party, he said, were divided into two camps. Each of these camps was made up of men who hated the other fellows more bitterly than they did the followers of Parnell. The Parnellites had been denounced by their opponents as factionists, yet both the adherents of Mr. Dillon and Mr. Healy had made overtures to the Parnell party. The Healy faction wanted to smash the Dillon men and the latter in turn were eager to destroy Healy's following.

SELECTIONS AT MONTREVIDO. MONTREVIDO, Nov. 27.—The legislative elections are in progress here to-day and the city is practically in a state of siege. The shops are barricaded, the houses are closed, the streets are deserted, the trains are empty and the warring parties are surrounded by the military and by armed policemen. Fired rifles have been brought from Buenos Ayres to assist the police. The delegates are rejected at the polls, the people are terrorized and only Government employees and partisans are voting. It is unanimously agreed that such flagrantly fraudulent elections have never taken place before, even in the worst military dictatorship. The results will not be made known until to-morrow.

CABINET CRISIS IN FRANCE. PARIS, Nov. 27.—Yesterday is talked about here to-day the probable formation of the new Cabinet and the so-called victory of the socialist party in ousting M. Dreyfus's ministers out of office. The supposed Mollath cabinet is warmly discussed in view of the protection opinion

A PETTY QUARREL.

Leads to an Attempt at Wife Murder and the Husband's Suicide.

HERMAN BARROWS, AN AGED AND REPUTED FARMER, KILLS HIMSELF.

After Shooting His Young Wife in the Head and Breast—The Dead Man a Justice of the Peace—The Wife May Recover—The Criminal Record of a Day.

ELMIRA, O., Nov. 27.—A shocking tragedy occurred at Ridgeville, this county, last night. Herman Barrows, a respected farmer, aged 58, shot his wife, aged 30, in the breast and head. He then placed the revolver to his head and sent a bullet through his own brain, dying instantly.

Barrows is a Justice of the Peace and has been a prominent man in the county for years. Mrs. Barrows may recover. A petty quarrel between the couple prompted the terrible deed.

THE STEPHENSON-RITCHIE CASE. MEXICO, Mo., Nov. 27.—At Montgomery City the celebrated Ritchie-Stephenson case has been settled by the discharge of M. P. Stephenson. It was claimed that the defendant owed the estate of Capt. B. P. Ritchie $1,200 on a note. Stephenson swore that the money had been paid and produced the note as proof. Suit was brought for the amount, but a verdict was rendered in favor of Stephenson. Later the Ritchies claimed to have found that the note had been lost or stolen from their banking-house and given to Stephenson, and the former verdict was reversed. Stephenson was indicted for perjury, but the indictment was faulty and the defendant was discharged. Now he threatens to sue the Ritchies for $10,000 damages.

SPRINTER MARKET'S SENTENCE. FAIRFIELD, Io., Nov. 27.—Ed Markley, a sprinter, has been sentenced to three years at hard labor in the Fort Madison Penitentiary. About a year ago Markley, Thomas Robinson, Henry and Thomas Bauer and Fred Cunningham arranged a foot race, which took place here. W. E. Bowman, a Farmington (Io.) bookkeeper, laid $4,000 on Markley, and the latter was defeated. The crowd disappeared and a dispute over the "whack" in St. Louis led to the arrest of the crowd.

OUTRAGES OF THE "IRON CLADS." HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 27.—An organization, known as the "Iron Clads," composed of the toughest element of the coal region, have attracted attention of the authorities by their many robberies and outrages perpetrated by them. They are similar to the "Molle Maguere" of old, and have sprung from the feud between the Slays and Maguere of this country.

THE UNFORTUNATE GERL. LONDON, Nov. 27.—The steamer Gerl has landed two bodies and two others she buried at sea a fortnight ago. There are only five members of the crew left to manage the ship, which has been beaten about the channel for a week past by the heavy gale which has prevailed.

WORK-HOUSE BURNED. BADAJOZ, Spain, Nov. 27.—The Work-house was burned here yesterday. The flames soon after the fire started, spread rapidly throughout the building, and the inmates were rescued with difficulty. No lives are reported lost, but sixty persons were injured.

AN INFERNAL MACHINE. DUBLIN, Nov. 27.—A tin box, weighing a pound and having a fuse attached, has been found outside the walls of Aliborough Barracks, this city. The box contained a quantity of saturated material resembling dynamite and is now being examined by the police.

ANARCHISTS TO BE KILLED. BERN, Nov. 27.—The Bundesrath is having a list of the dangerous anarchists in Switzerland prepared, and, in accordance with the agreement with other powers, they will be secretly expelled.

FOR INSULTING VON CARRIVI. BERLIN, Nov. 27.—The Criminal Court at Hagen has sentenced the ex-editor of the Reichs Westfalia Zeitung to six weeks' imprisonment for insulting Chancellor von Carrivi.

SIX ANARCHISTS ARRESTED. BURENOS AYRES, Argentina, Nov. 27.—Six Anarchists have been arrested here for plotting an attempt upon the lives of public officials.

Religious Matters. The chapel of St. Paul the Apostle, at Pondicton and a Flanery street was dedicated yesterday morning by Archbishop Kain, who afterwards preached and confirmed a class of twenty boys and girls. A solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. J. H. Hayes, assisted by Rev. O. J. McDonald, Rev. A. Delackin, pastor of the church, and Rev. J. S. Brennan, master of ceremonies. Rev. J. O'Brien delivered a sermon on the dedication of the chapel. The exercises closed with benediction by Archbishop Kain.

The dedication of Water Tower M. E. Church, Twentieth street and Olive avenue, which never took place, created quite a sensation at the time, and his release from prison was a matter of international importance, as the government of this country had to interfere in his behalf.

ANNE MANN'S FUNERAL. Annie Manns, the girl who was foully murdered last Thursday night, supposedly by James Fitzgerald, a young man with whom she had been keeping company, was buried yesterday morning at St. Boniface church, at 2:30 p. m., and the body was taken to Mount Olive Catholic cemetery for interment.

DR. HILTON'S SPECIFIC

No. 3 for the CURE OF COLDS and the Prevention of Pneumonia

Supplied to Retailers by Meyer Bros. Drug Co.

Where to Purchase Supplies for Thanksgiving.

We will sell, commencing to-morrow morning, up to the evening of the 29th current—

Fine Imported Sherry Wine at $6 per case. Old Irish Scotch Whisky at $13.50 per case. Old Irish Whisky at $13.50 per case. P. N. & S. Old Bourbon Whisky at $10 per case. P. N. & S. Old Rye Whisky at $10 per case.

Each case contains 12 dozen bottles, 5 to the gallon. We have now on sale an extensive assortment of reasonable prices.

PETER NICHOLSON & SONS, 208, 210 and 212 N. Broadway

DIVIDEND NOTICE. UNION TRUST CO. of St. Louis, Nov. 14, 1903.—The Board of Directors of this company has this day declared a dividend of 3 per cent payable on Nov. 30 to stockholders of record of 1903. Stock transfer books will be closed on Saturday, the 10th of November, and remain closed till the 1st of December.

THE LACLEDE GAS LIGHT CO.—St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15, 1903.—The directors of this company have declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent on the preferred capital stock, payable on and after Nov. 15, 1903. Transfer books will close Dec. 1, and reopen Dec. 10, 1903. A. ROSS, Secretary.

THE WEATHER. Meteorological Forecast for St. Louis and Missouri. A storm of moderate intensity in connection with the Mississippi Valley which has caused rain throughout the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

THE TABLES TURNED. A Bull's Head Saves a Life. Nature's freaks never end. Neither does the persistency in which the globe, north-west corner Franklin avenue and seventh street, are slaughtering prices—$20 and $25 Baltimore tailor-made suits and overcoats are selling at $7.95 and $9.00. Cheaper goods, good suits and overcoats, as low as $1.95 and $3.50.

THE FINER SLEET.—Yesterday morning St. Louis experienced the first sleet of the season. Many were of the opinion that it was snowing, but the signal service authorities declare it was only a sleet.

DR. PRICE'S DELICIOUS Flavoring Extracts. The Post-Dispatch receives advertisements for its Sunday issue, wants as well as display, any day in the week to suit the convenience of its patrons, with the assurance they will be properly inserted.

Ex-Sheriff Fohlman Robbed. Ex-Sheriff John H. Fohlman swore out a warrant to-day against Charles Caldwell, a negro, charging him with stealing two sponges valued at $1 from Washington avenue. The negro was arrested this morning by Officer Dillon.

Joy for the suffering, health for the sick. Red Cross Cough Drops. Druggists.

SICK HEADACHE. CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. They regulate the bowels and prevent constipation. Are free from all crude and irritating matter. Very small; easy to take; no pain; no griping. Purely Vegetable. Sugar Coated.

TRAMPLED ON HER.—Little Hobbs, a very black woman, living at Twenty-third and Broadway, was trampled on by a horse and cart, and was injured. She was taken to the hospital and is now recovering.

DR. HILTON'S SPECIFIC

No. 3 for the CURE OF COLDS and the Prevention of Pneumonia

Supplied to Retailers by Meyer Bros. Drug Co.

Where to Purchase Supplies for Thanksgiving.

We will sell, commencing to-morrow morning, up to the evening of the 29th current—

Fine Imported Sherry Wine at $6 per case. Old Irish Scotch Whisky at $13.50 per case. Old Irish Whisky at $13.50 per case. P. N. & S. Old Bourbon Whisky at $10 per case. P. N. & S. Old Rye Whisky at $10 per case.

Each case contains 12 dozen bottles, 5 to the gallon. We have now on sale an extensive assortment of reasonable prices.

PETER NICHOLSON & SONS, 208, 210 and 212 N. Broadway

DIVIDEND NOTICE. UNION TRUST CO. of St. Louis, Nov. 14, 1903.—The Board of Directors of this company has this day declared a dividend of 3 per cent payable on Nov. 30 to stockholders of record of 1903. Stock transfer books will be closed on Saturday, the 10th of November, and remain closed till the 1st of December.

THE LACLEDE GAS LIGHT CO.—St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15, 1903.—The directors of this company have declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent on the preferred capital stock, payable on and after Nov. 15, 1903. Transfer books will close Dec. 1, and reopen Dec. 10, 1903. A. ROSS, Secretary.

THE WEATHER. Meteorological Forecast for St. Louis and Missouri. A storm of moderate intensity in connection with the Mississippi Valley which has caused rain throughout the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

THE TABLES TURNED. A Bull's Head Saves a Life. Nature's freaks never end. Neither does the persistency in which the globe, north-west corner Franklin avenue and seventh street, are slaughtering prices—$20 and $25 Baltimore tailor-made suits and overcoats are selling at $7.95 and $9.00. Cheaper goods, good suits and overcoats, as low as $1.95 and $3.50.

THE FINER SLEET.—Yesterday morning St. Louis experienced the first sleet of the season. Many were of the opinion that it was snowing, but the signal service authorities declare it was only a sleet.

DR. PRICE'S DELICIOUS Flavoring Extracts. The Post-Dispatch receives advertisements for its Sunday issue, wants as well as display, any day in the week to suit the convenience of its patrons, with the assurance they will be properly inserted.

Ex-Sheriff Fohlman Robbed. Ex-Sheriff John H. Fohlman swore out a warrant to-day against Charles Caldwell, a negro, charging him with stealing two sponges valued at $1 from Washington avenue. The negro was arrested this morning by Officer Dillon.

Joy for the suffering, health for the sick. Red Cross Cough Drops. Druggists.

SICK HEADACHE. CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. They regulate the bowels and prevent constipation. Are free from all crude and irritating matter. Very small; easy to take; no pain; no griping. Purely Vegetable. Sugar Coated.

TRAMPLED ON HER.—Little Hobbs, a very black woman, living at Twenty-third and Broadway, was trampled on by a horse and cart, and was injured. She was taken to the hospital and is now recovering.

THESE THINGS BE TRUE!

And there are many more bargains fully as great in the great wholesale stock of Wile, Stern & Co., New York, which was bought by us AT 60 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR! And is now being sold at 60 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR! Get your share of the good things before these great bargains all go! This week will end the sale!

Come To-day for These:

Men's 20c Linen Collars at 5c!
25c 4-ply Linen Cuffs at 15c!
$1.50 Cardigan Jackets at 85c!
$1.75 Soiled Dress Shirts at 75c!

We are slashing prices in Furnishing Goods just now. Smoking Jackets, House Coats, Underwear, Hosiery, etc., AT THE LOWEST PRICES EVER KNOWN!

300 Pairs Men's Fine $4 Calf Shoes go at $3!

Where to Purchase Supplies for Thanksgiving.

We will sell, commencing to-morrow morning, up to the evening of the 29th current—

Fine Imported Sherry Wine at $6 per case. Old Irish Scotch Whisky at $13.50 per case. Old Irish Whisky at $13.50 per case. P. N. & S. Old Bourbon Whisky at $10 per case. P. N. & S. Old Rye Whisky at $10 per case.

Each case contains 12 dozen bottles, 5 to the gallon. We have now on sale an extensive assortment of reasonable prices.

PETER NICHOLSON & SONS, 208, 210 and 212 N. Broadway

DIVIDEND NOTICE. UNION TRUST CO. of St. Louis, Nov. 14, 1903.—The Board of Directors of this company has this day declared a dividend of 3 per cent payable on Nov. 30 to stockholders of record of 1903. Stock transfer books will be closed on Saturday, the 10th of November, and remain closed till the 1st of December.

THE LACLEDE GAS LIGHT CO.—St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15, 1903.—The directors of this company have declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent on the preferred capital stock, payable on and after Nov. 15, 1903. Transfer books will close Dec. 1, and reopen Dec. 10, 1903. A. ROSS, Secretary.

THE WEATHER. Meteorological Forecast for St. Louis and Missouri. A storm of moderate intensity in connection with the Mississippi Valley which has caused rain throughout the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

THE TABLES TURNED. A Bull's Head Saves a Life. Nature's freaks never end. Neither does the persistency in which the globe, north-west corner Franklin avenue and seventh street, are slaughtering prices—$20 and $25 Baltimore tailor-made suits and overcoats are selling at $7.95 and $9.00. Cheaper goods, good suits and overcoats, as low as $1.95 and $3.50.

THE FINER SLEET.—Yesterday morning St. Louis experienced the first sleet of the season. Many were of the opinion that it was snowing, but the signal service authorities declare it was only a sleet.

DR. PRICE'S DELICIOUS Flavoring Extracts. The Post-Dispatch receives advertisements for its Sunday issue, wants as well as display, any day in the week to suit the convenience of its patrons, with the assurance they will be properly inserted.

Ex-Sheriff Fohlman Robbed. Ex-Sheriff John H. Fohlman swore out a warrant to-day against Charles Caldwell, a negro, charging him with stealing two sponges valued at $1 from Washington avenue. The negro was arrested this morning by Officer Dillon.

AMUSEMENTS.

POPULAR PRICES THIS WEEK.

Special Matinee Thanksgiving Day.

EMMET, FRITZ IN PROSPERITY.

Grand Opera House.

THE ISLE OF CHAMPAGNE.

THE Hagan.

MR. RICHARD MANSFIELD.

TO-NIGHT.....BEAU BRUMMELL.

PRINCE KARL.

HAULIN'S - To-Night.

MR. AND MRS. OLIVER BYRON.

HEART OF AFRICA.

POPE'S - To-Night.

STANDARD - To-Night.

NEW YORK STARS.

CHORAL SYMPHONY SOCIETY.

MUSIC HALL.

JOSEPH OTTEN, Conductor.

THE NANA.

THE 55,000 PICTURE HAS ARRIVED.

GRAND OPENING TO-DAY AT 808 OLIVE STREET.

ADJOINING FIVE'S Theatre.

East St. Louis Jockey Club.

